

ALL AGES WELCOME FOR A DAY OF FREE FAMILY FUN

9 a.m.–5 p.m., June 10 | Sanford Research Center, Sioux Falls

The summer's celebration of art, science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) returns with over 40 interactive exhibits, mystifying stage performances, one-on-one career discussions with the region's top scientists and so much more!

ON THE MAIN STAGE

BubbleMania

You will be amazed as bubble-ologist Casey Carle brings his engaging bubble show to Sioux Falls. Unlock the mystery of bubbles by attending one of several free shows throughout the day.

GET INVOLVED

There are several opportunities for students (K-12, undergraduate and graduate) and educators to showcase their own science and research.

We also welcome teen and adult volunteers to work side-by-side with our amazing crew to bring this event to life.

Visit itsallaboutscience.org to learn more or to apply to participate at the event.
